Gothic Features and Concepts

Gothic Concept	Example from the poem	Analysis
Use of setting to mirror emotions and to create a sinister atmosphere - description of a hostile environment.
Horror and Death - the shocking strangulation of a young woman and the murderer's lack of remorse. The ending of the poem is particularly macabre as the speaker caresses Porphyria's corpse.
Abnormal Psychology - the poem is from the perspective of the murderer. Is he insane? Schizophrenic? A psychopath? A sociopath?
Breaking taboos - Browning portrays female sexuality. Porphyria flirts with and seduces the speaker. She is not the innocent and demure young woman usually portrayed in literature of the time.
Sexual transgression - the speaker is clearly aroused by Porphyria. Maybe he has a fetish for hair? The strangulation is also described in an erotic way and his kissing and playing with the corpse is reminiscent of necrophilia.

Dark Atmosphere Pathetic fallacy:

-Mariana: -imageries of dying nature (see death) +"thickest dark" "the day is dreary"
"gray-eyed morn" "shril winds"
"The blackened waters"
+repetitive structure=unending darkness/depression
-Porphyria's lover: "the rain set early in to-night" "tore the elm-tops" "the storm"=anger
-Superstition: "eternal shades" "silence dwell" "wild impending rocks" "darkend air"
-Alone: "stormy life" "lightning" "thunder"
"storm" "cloud"

Sex: (taboo subject)

-Mariana: "hard by à poplar shook away" (sexual connotations) (noticeable: stands out from flat landscape) +poplar tree mentioned on multiple occasions =sexual longing
+"the moon was low"+ "the white curtains to and fro"=femininity and sexual desire
-La Belle Dame Sans Merci: "her eyes were wild"
-Porphyria's Lover: "made her smooth white shoulder bare"
"To set it its struggling passion free"
+"let her damp hair fall"

Isolation:
-Mariana: "lonely moated grange"
"My life is dreary, He cometh not"
(repeated throughout)
-One Need Not Be A Chamber to be haunted:
"lonesome place"
-Alone: "And all I lov'd--I lov'd alone"
"loitering"

-Alone: "I am awear, weary, I would that I
were dead!"
+ "oh god that I were dead!"
+dying nature: "blackest moss" "broken sheds"
"weeded and worn" "rusted nails"
-Superstition: "blast of Desolation wide"
"Sweeping ruin settles o'er the land" "Death and Vengeance"
-Porphyria's Lover: "and strangled her"
"Her head, which droops upon it still"
-Alone: "Heaven" and "demon"=hell
"Mourning day"

Mariana,
Alfred, Lord Tennyson

Time passing:
Mariana: = with the structure of the poem that goes on in an endless loop Confusion with day and night - "The night is dreary", "middle of the night"
and "the day is dreary"
La Belle Dame Sans Merci:
"The latest dream I ever dreamt"
"This is why I sojourn here"
=trapped for eternity Alone: "childhood" (past) "them" (shift in time) "binds me still" (present) "the sun that 'round me rolled"

Setting:

Mariana: "moated grange" neglected and damaged house and garden "rusted nails"
"broken shed" "clinking latch" La belle dame sans Merci: in the outside "the lake" but also entrapped "grot" Porphyria's lover: stormy climate "rain" "sullen wind"=dark setting outside Superstition. An Ode: "wild impeding rocks"
"The purple streams"
One need not be a chamber to be haunted:
"Chamber" "Corridors" "Abbey" "Stones"
"lonesome place=gothic atmosphere/location

References to supernatural:

-Mariana: "white curtain" = haunting and ghost like
"Old faces", "Old footsteps" and "Old voices"
"Flitting of the bats" and "thickest dark did trance the sky" = has a supernatural aspect
One Need Not Be A Chamber To Be Haunted:
With the characters : the Spectre, the ghost
La belle dame sans Merci: "airy", "grot" "language strange" → line between reality and fiction blurred Alone: "demon"

Structure:

Regular structure
→ Mariana, to express boringness and repeating cycle
(also repetition "I am awear, weary, I would that I
were dead!")
→ La Belle Dame Sans Merci, to illustrate the fact that it has already happened + regular ritual of luring men in → Alone, iambic tetrameter and regular stanzas contrast with use of hyphens
-One Need Not Be A Chamber To Be Haunted:
repetition, insistence on reflection of the human mind (use of different yet related examples in every stanza in order to convey main idea)

Depiction of suffering/vulnerability and abuse of power:

-Mariana: indirect power over her
Feeling of entrapment
-Superstition: the superstition that is more powerful than her
-la belle dame sans Merci: abuse of sexual power "she lulled me asleep"
-One Need Not Be A Chamber To Be Haunted: vulnerability of speaker, has a fragile mental state

Gothic Wider Reading - The British Library

Choose one of the articles below to read and answer the questions in your own words.

EITHER Dracula: vampires, perversity and Victorian anxieties.

<https://www.bl.uk/romantics-and-victorians/articles/dracula>

(The vampire is a complicated creature: caught between life and death, at once alluring and horrifying. Greg Buzwell considers the way the novel reflects the fears that haunted late 19th-century society – fears of immigration, sexual promiscuity and moral degeneration.)

1. How has the vampire always been a contradictory figure?
2. What kinds of late-Victorian fears are explored in the novel?
3. How are women presented in Dracula?
4. How does Stoker reflect modern ideas and inventions in his novel?

OR The Picture of Dorian Gray: art, ethics and the artist.

<https://www.bl.uk/romantics-and-victorians/articles/the-picture-of-dorian-gray-art-ethics-and-the-artist#>

(Dark desires and forbidden pleasure are at the centre of The Picture of Dorian Gray. Greg Buzwell examines the interplay between art and morality in Oscar Wilde's novel, and considers its use of traditional Gothic motifs as well as the theories of the new aesthetic movement.)

1. How does Wilde explore the idea of a double life in The Picture of Dorian Gray?
2. What was the Aestheticism movement and how does it link to the Gothic?
3. What is the role of paintings in Gothic fiction?
4. Why was the novel so controversial when it was first published and how does this reflect Gothic concepts?

OR Gothic fiction in the Victorian fin de siècle: mutating bodies and disturbed minds.

<https://www.bl.uk/romantics-and-victorians/articles/gothic-fiction-in-the-victorian-fin-de-siecle>

(The Victorian period saw Gothic fiction evolving and taking on new characteristics. With a focus on the late 19th century curator Greg Buzwell traces common themes and imagery found in The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde, Dracula and The Picture of Dorian Gray.)

1. How did the setting in Gothic novels change as the genre developed?
2. How were Darwin's ideas reflected in Gothic fiction?
3. How did the ideas of the Italian criminologist Cesare Lombroso influence Gothic writers?
4. How did Gothic fiction allow authors to explore themes that were not necessarily acceptable subjects for discussion in respectable society?
